To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to enthusiastically recommend John Jackman, who is a great and captivating speaker. He will certainly engage audiences with wit, compassion, and a heady dose of solid factual research.

I worked with John when I was the editor of DV Magazine. At our regular conventions in LA and New York John always had a prime speaking slot, and his talks were always quite popular. He also wrote a monthly column for DV, and produced (and starred in!) an educational training video about film lighting. John has the impressive ability to explain complex ideas in a clear, compelling manner, regardless of the subject. I am certain he will entertain and enlighten your audiences as much as he did ours.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Reed
